FOUND IN NORTH RIVER.

MORE ABOUT THE FELLOWS' MYS-TERY.

An Apparently Unaccountable Case of Singular Disappearance Partially Explained - What the Brother of the Dead Man Says.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18-The body Robert Fellows, the broker, of No. 176 Broadway, and a nephew of Mr. Augustus Schell, who disappeared on October 29, was found floating in the North River. Officer Frank Nugent, of the Steamboat Squad, saw the body under the pier of the Delaware and Lackawanna Railroad Company at the foot of Cortland street. He secured a boat and had the body removed to the Twenty-seventh Precinct Police Station. It was badly decomposed, and had evidently been in the water

The body was identified as that of Mr. Fellows by the clothing, a valuable gold watch, two promissory notes and an acknowledgement of $208 which had been sent by the deceased to Stamford, Conn., for the Young Men's Christian Association. There were also found in the pockets of the drowned man $19.78 in money, several blank checks on the Butchers' and Drovers' Bank and a copy of a newspaper of October 29. The watch had stopped at 8.43,

Mr. Richard C. Fellows, the well-known lawyer, a brother of the deceased, had the remains removed to Mooney's undertaker's shop, from which place it be will sent to Stamford for interment.

The brother was seen at his residence, No. 24 West Fifty-eight street. He was naturally greatly affected by his brother's

"I can not account for his being found in the river," he said. "It is a mystery to He left his office at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the 20th of last month. At about 6 o'clock he was seen by some friends at the corner of Greenwich and Cortlandt streets. That was the last seen of him alive, and now his body is found floating in the river in nearly the same locality. My brother was thirty-seven years of age, in the best of health and spirits. He owes almost nothing; his business is in good condition; he had a wife and child, whom he loved, and his marital relations were very happy. He was a trustee of the Sunday school in Stamford, and also of the Young Men's Christian Association

There is an utter absence of the least motive which could drive a sane man to such an act, and my brother's mental faculties were were perfectly unclouded. I would as soon think of his shooting me as of his taking his own life." "To what, then, do you attribute his

"It must have been a melancholy accident. It can not have been anything else. You remember the night of the 20th was ratny and stormy. He may, perhaps, have been trying to cross over to Jersey City, and in the darkness walked off the pier. What could otherwise have brought him in that portion of the city at that hour I can not imagine. His permanent residence was in Stamford."

'About eight months ago he bought some property there, including a greenhouse, and since then devoted his attention mainly to the raising of grapes and vegetables. He only came to this city on business about three times a week, and then it was his custom to come by the io a, m. train and leave at 4:30 p. m. As an evidence of his domesticity I may state that for the past year he never slept away from We were naturally greatly alarmed when he was missing on the 30th, and I informed the police. I have been to headquarters a hundred times if I have been once, nad was unable to find the slightest ciue as to what had become of him until I was summoned to-day to look on his dead body. It is perhaps strange that it should not have been found before. He must have sunk immediately after having fallen into the water, and the body did not rise to the surface until to-day."

GENERAL GRANT AT KINZUA.

Visiting the Highest Railroad Bridge in the World With a Party of New Yorkers.

Bradford, Pa., Nov. 18.—Ex-President Grant visited the Kinzua viaduct, fifteen miles southwest of Bradford. This viaduct, which is 2,060 feet long and 301 feet high, is the highest railroad bridge in the world. It was built in 1882 by the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad Company and is used conjointly with the Rochester and Pittsburgh road. General Grant was accompanied by Colonel F. D. Grant, Ferdinand Ward, his business associate, Mayor Franklin Edson, James D. Fish, J. Nerson Tappen, James R. Smith and Generel B. N. Spencer, Treasurer of the New York, Lake Erie Western, all of New York City. Standing on the highest point of the bridge the General looked down into the valley, and then turning away with the Isconic remark: "Judas Priest! how high we are!" No one contradicted him. The party had a cordial reception here, and General Grant shook hands with a great number of people. One enthusiastic pairiot squeezed the General's hand so hard that the old soldier fairly howled with pain. The party left for Buffalo at 4:10 p. m.

Mayor Edson missed his boots this morning and playfully accused General Grant of appropriating them, whereupon the General said: "Mayor Edson, I wear a Democratic hat, won at the late election, and am now Democratic at both ends and must be thoroughly inoculated with De-I don't think that the Republicans had better trust me again."

FIGHT FOR LIFE.

A Western Reporter Acquitted of the Charge of Muriter. Sr. Louis, Nov. 16.-Edward Rickert, the newspaper reporter who three years ago shot and killed Selina Wilson, was acquittod of the charge of murder. This was his second trial. At the first he was found guilty and subsequently sentenced to be hanged; then he recurred new counsel and they got him a new trial, Rickert boarded with Mrs. Wilson, who was a married woman and the mother of several children. He became guite intimate with her, and one night asked her to go to a ball with him. She refused, whereupon he drew his pistol and shot her in the mouth She lived long enough to tell how he had shot her, and said that she had never held criminal relations with him, and that in her belief whisky led him to do the shooting. Rickert claimed that it was a case of accidental shooting. At his first trial the husband of Mrs. Wilson appeared, and it was said that he intended killing Rickert if the jury ac quitted him. He was not present at this econd trial, having left the city a long while ago to live in Colorado. Ricker worked on the newspapers of Chicago and Cincinnati, and at the time of the shooting was a reporter on the Globe-Democrat.

De Vivo on Opera Wars. ALBANY, Nov. 18 .- "A fight like they save in New York does nobody any good, signor De Nivo, the impressario, said to a eporter, while discussing the rivalry of he Messrs. Mapleson and Abbey and its probable results. "The competition beween the two opera houses can only result in disaster for both managers. Twelve years ago Starkosch gave opera around the country with Nilsson, Campanini and Del Puente, all of them were better than they are now, at a cost to him of $12,000. It costs Abbey and Mapleson something like $5,000 or $7,000 a night now. Patti gets $5,000 and Campanini, with his cracked voice, $1,000. It would not pay to bring them here at those figures. This competition will be a blow to the provincial cities, as it places opera out of the reach of their audiences."

NAVAL MATTERS.

An Interesting Letter from Admiral

Crosby. Washington, Nov. 18.-Rear Admiral Crosley, commanding the Asiatic Squadon, reports to the Navy Department, under date of October 22, 1883, that every thing seems quiet at Canton, China, and foreigners there now feel comparatively secure. Diaz, the Portugese, who kicked a Chinaman overboard from a steamer and caused his death by drowning and precipitated all the riot, is now on board of a Portugese man-of-war awaiting trial. The the have been ordered to Coast of Fermosa to make for four American sailors reported lost on that coast. A consultation was held beween maval officers representing the United States, France, Great Britain and Portugal, at which certain signals were agreed upon, to be used in case there was another outbreak at Canton, demanding the landing of a force of men from the men-of-war of the countries mentioned, This was adopted on the 27th of September, but up to the date of Admiral Crosby's letter, there had been no demand for any

NEW YORK'S DAY.

Preparations for a Big Celebration. NEW YORK, Nov. 18.-The naval parade will be a feature of the celebration of the Evacuation Day. The procession of vessels will be twenty miles long, and every description of steamers will be in line. Five hundred steamer are expected to take part in the parade, which, it is said, will be five hours passing a given point. The Admiral's flag-ship will be stationed off the Cattery, and every vessel will be decorated with flags from steon to stern. The various forts in the harbor will fire salutes during of the Cabinet and many distinguished persons are invited to be present. A large number of military and civic organizations and fire-engine companies from this city and various parts of the country will take part in the celebration. The various Changes will be closed, and business is generally expected to be suspended. The National Guard is arranging for the reception of visiting military companier.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 .- A rumor was cir ulated Saturdey that 20,000 tons of steel rails had been sold at $34 per ton. The Lackawanna Company was credited with the transactions, but the officials of that road deny having taken any order whatever less than $35. Inquiry at local offices of other manufacturers also met with positive denials of transactions under $35. Four rail mills, and possibly five, it is assumed will shut down after the orders on hard are filled, which will probably be before the close of the year, in consequence of the quantity to make a profit on rails at $35. It is stated on good authority, however, that several companies can more than cover cost at that figure, since then decline orders have been taken for 40,000 tons for delivery next year by various faills.

The Kithourne-Thompson Case.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 .- Judge Cox, in the Circuit Court, set aside the verdict of $60,000 damages awarded by the jury last week in the Kilbourne-Thompson case for false imprisonment. It will be remembered that Kilbourne refused to produce the books of the "real estate pool," before a committee of Congress in 1874. He was therefore imprisoned and then entered suit against John G. Thompson, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, for damage. In the first trial he was awarded $100,000 damages, which verdict was set aside. second trial resulted in a verdict of $60, 000, which now has also been set aside as excessive. Mr. Kilbourne has moved for a new trial.

Another Vessel Wrecked.

CHATHAM, Mass., Nov. 18.—The schooner Wm. F. Garrison, Captain Steelman, of and from Philadelphia, for Boston, an-chored off Chatham yesterday during the While getting up her anchor last night with a heavy sea running, she struck bottom and came ashore about two miles from Chatham Light. She soon filled with water, and the crew took to the rigging. where they remained until discovered and taken off by a boat's crew from this place suring a dangerous, heavy sea about 7 o'clock this morning. The vessel and crew will protatbly be a total loss.

Found Bend on the Road.

HANNIBAL, Mo., Nov. 18,-Henry Owens a colored man, was found at the covered bridge, near the Fair Grounds, about three miles west of the city. Parties passing in a wagon took him and started to bring him to town, but he died before they reached his home. He was fifty years of age, and lived at the west end. His complaint was pronounced heart disease. He will be

GANG OF DESPERADOES.

GOOD WORK BY THE DETECTIVES.

Capturing a Gang of Burglars and Horse Thieves - How a Nest Job Was Planned and Carried Out.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 .- In the Yorkville

Court yesterday Eliza and William J. Fredericks, of 448 West Forty-fifth street; Robert Wilson, of 230 West Twentieth street, and James Connieff, of 134 Laight street, were sent by Justice Power to Brooklyn on a charge of having broken into the residence of Dr. Van triesen, at 14 Kent street, on the 18th of last August and stolen therefrom silk dresses and jewelry, $400 worth of which was recovered in the residences of the accused and in pawnshops where they had pledged the property. They belong to the Eleventh avenue gang. On the 15th of October, the residence of George Cackett, at 27 Ainesly street, Brooklyn, was entered and property stolen. The following day Captain Killelea with two detectives saw three girls come out of No. 342 West Forty-fifth street, They were carrying large bundles. The officer saw them dispose of the goods in five pawnshops and then took them into custody. The house was searched and, together with the goods which the girls had pawned, $500 worth of property was recovered. A man named Wilson was arrested with jewelry stolen from Cackett in his possession. He proved to be an ex-convict. The girls gave their names as Kate Kane, of 532 West Fifty-third street; Kate Smith, alias Rogers, or 542 West Fortyfifth street, and Kate Donovan, or 500 West Forty-seventh street. When the prisoners were arraigned in court a man named James Connieff, of 291 Gold street, dropped in and was taken into custody. Other clues obtained in making this arrest led the detectives to pay a visit to Timothy Shea's saloon, at Twenty-second street and First avenue, where Thomas McKeon, of 442 West Forty-second street, was captured, and shortly afterward his brother, Peter Me-Keon, a New Jersey pick-pocket, was also added to the list of prisoners, while the officers obtained information that ied to the recovery of $2,500 worth of stolen goods, and also of six horses. One of the animals belonged to Henry Steuby, of 409 West Fortyfifth street, and was valued at $650; another, valued at $300, belonged to a Mr. Murpay of Ninth avenue and rorty-sixth street; another, valued at $700 was owned by C. Tappan, of Short Hills, N. J.; a tourch waten was found in Perth Amboy, N. J., belonged to a White street truckman, and the remaining two were owned by William Reed, of 59 Charkson street, and were valued at $1,000. The prisoners were turned over to the Brookiya authorities and are now in jail. It was while working up that case that information was obtained which led to the arrest of the prisoners sent to Brooklyn yesterday. Robert Wilson, when confronted by the detectives, drew a pistol on Detective Buckhorn, but was knocked down by him before he had a chance to use the weapon. The police claim that the prisoners all belong to an organized gang of desderadoes. The two onnieffs are relatives. In addition to the other good recovered some $500 worth of silver in upwards of twenty different lots was recovered.

Halt to a St. Louis Pro

St. Louis, Nov. 18.-The new Exposition and Music Hall building is now fairly under way, the foundation being excavated and the masonry completed to the ground level; but the pleasant prospect of an early completion of the building is marred by the commencement of legal proceedings to prevent its further progress. The opponents of the Exposition are sundry owners of real estate on Lucas place, and are headed by Judge T. T. Gantt, who claim that the park upon which the building is being erected an not be applied to that purpose. The city law department holds an opposite view, and tedious litigation, which may seriously delay the completion of the structure, is

Another Civil Rights Bill.

TRENTON, Nov. 18.-United States Senttor Stainsby, of Essex County, has just announced that at the opening of the next Legislature he will introduce a Civil Rights bill that will be identical with the one recently declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court. On speak ing of the matter, Senator Stainsby said that Justice Bradley declared the bill unconstitutional because it could only adopted by the States. He does not think the Democrats will oppose the bill. In the Southern States it may be defeated, but not in the North. He thinks the bill will be passed in New Jersey almost unanimously.

The Sun After Ben Butler.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 .- The Sun has the ollowing: "General Butler does not care to have the credit of being the author of the Civil Rights Bill, lately declared null and void by the Supreme Court. He says that while he reported the bill from the Judiciary Committee it was not drafted by him, but by Mr. Shellabarger. But Mr. Shell abarger was not a member of the Congress which passed the bill, and the Governor's recollection must be somewhat at fault. It is learned that the decision of the Supreme Court as to the unconstitutionality of the Bill was reached early in last term and that Justice Bradiey was assigned to prepare the opinion."

Mrs. Garrett's Funeral.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 18.-The funeral of Mrs. Joun W. Grrrett took place at Green Mount Cemetery at 3 p. m. was a long line of carriages, many of them private equipages and the attendance was remarkably large. All the prominent officials of the B. & O. R. R. were present and numerous other well known citizens. The remains were encased in a handsome rosewood casket covered with rich black cloth and mounted with oxydized silver trimmings.

Fearful Brutality in the South.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18 .- A copy of the Natchez Crusader gives an account of even more astounding barbarities than that recently reported in Hazelhurst, Copiah County, Miss. The detailed statement shows that one man, sixty-eight years of age, was given six hundred lashes and another sixty years of age was shot dead in his wife's arms, because they opposed the Bourbon ticket."

Burning of an Extensive Freight De. pot in Jersey City.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 18 .- Fire broke out early Sunday morning at the west end of the frieght depot of the Jersey Central Railroad Co. A high northwest wind pre-vailed at the time which caused the fire to spread rapidly, and for a few minutes the entire structure was enveloped in flames. A fire alarm was sounded by the watchman and the three engines on hand and two companys of tugs were soon throwing streams on the burning structure, but they made no headway and it was soon apparent that the depot could not be saved. The firemen and others then turned their attention to the surrounding property and, by strenuous efforts, succeeded in confining the flames to the building in which they originated. This was totally destroyed, together with its contents, consisting of some sixteen freight cars loaded with hides, feed, paint and general merchandise. Seven loaded freight cars on a track alongside the depot, and two or three platform cars were also destroyed. A small building used as an office for train hands went in with the general wreck. At the first alarm the yardmaster succeeded in saving a train of fifteen cars loaded with freight, which he had hauled out. The passenger depot, which stood close to the burned building, would have also been undoubtedly destroyed had the wind changed to any other point from that which it was blowing The fire is believed to have originated from chemicals in the battery room of the depot.

PHILADELPHIA ITEMS.

The Shoemaker's Strike and a Fatal

Fire. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 .- Nearly employes of the shoe manufacturing firm of Thomas Harris & Co., have inaugurated strike because of the reduction from five o seven and a half per cent in wages. There is no change in the condition of affairs at the factory of Messrs. Ziegler Bros. The 600 employes refuse to work and the factory is closed. On Monday a conference will be held between Mr. Ziegler and an arbitration committee of the Union, when it is thought matters will be satisfactorily arranged. About four o'clock this morning the building No. 2501 Germantown avenue, was partly destroyed by fire, and a young man named Charles Melton was burned to death. Loss on building contents

A Deserting Doctor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18 .- An effort s being made here to get a Pittsburg young man out of a very bad scrape. Dr. Dun-dernburg, of Pittsburg, has a son, also a doctor, but somewhat given to dissipation. A short time ago it appears that young Dundernberg got on a spree, and before he had fully recovered from its effects he enlisted in the army. The family is said to be of high standing, and begun immediate steps to get the young man out. These might have been successful had not young Dr. Dundenburg suddenly deserted. Represon ative Bayne and General Pearson, of l'ittsburg, came over to intercede for the young man at the War Department, havng had their sympathy enlisted in his be half, but the desertion bars action. General Pearson says he believes he can lay hands on young Dundenburg at any time if he could be gotten out of the army, and General Sheridan thinks the young man might be gotten out if he would return to his regiment and face the music. So the matter stands

A Hog Jaw Valley Tragedy.

CARPENTER'S STATION, Ala., Nov. 18 .-Wednesday night a tragedy was enacted in Hog Jaw Valley, Ala.. near Carpenter's Station, that will probably result fatally to one of the parties. Young James and an unknown man called at the house of Jeff Redmond and endeavored to make him promise to vacate the premises he was occupying. Upon Redmond refusing to do this it is said that they broke down the door and James entered the house and shot Redmond. They then closed, and in the scuffle both At this juncture Redmond's wife sprang out of bed, and, seizing a hatchet, ommenced cutting James on his head and back, laying the skull open in several places. James is past recovering. The origin of the trouble was a dispute over the ownership of an eighty-acre tract of land, upon which Redmond had taken out homestead papers. The Jameses claim to have entered it twenty years ago.

Wichita to Memphis.

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 18 .- A few days since the Kansas City, Fort Scott, Springfield and Memphis Railroad was completed and traffic opened. This line, by way of the St. Louis, Fort Scott and Wichita Bailroad, opens a route from the Arkansas Valley to the South and Gulf. An effort was made a few years since to secure a direct line from this point down the Arkan sas River to Memphis, via Fort Smith. Ark. A charter was obtained and an organization of prominent citizens of Kan-Arkansas and Tennessee perfected. Had it not been for a failure to obtain a right of way through the Indian Territory, from Arkansas City to Fort Smith, the line would have been completed, and the Lower Arkansas Valley have had a short line to Memphis, New Orleans and the Gulf of Mexico.

A Demand for Mechanics.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 18 - Austin is growing so fast at present that mechanics are sought in vain to meet the demand for labor. Nearly every building of importance started this summer has dragged along for want of help to build it within the time that it ought to have been done, and, worse than that, several large structures have been temporarily abandoned because labor could not be obtained without paying the most extravagant prices for it, Austin needs more than anything else is a large number of mechanics. In some places there is an oversupply of these men, and if they would come to Austin they would find it greatly to their sdvantage.

The Water Question at Memphis. MEMPHIS, Teun., Nov. 18.-At a mass meeting of citizens held last night a committee was appointed to raise $2,000, the necessary amount to secure the services of competent engineers to make a survey of a plan to secure Mississippi River water, which, if successful, will relieve Memphis of the compound she is now compelled to use from Wolf River. The water company and the citizens' committee are at last working harmonously together, endeavor-ing to secure a supply from the Mississippl River, and which will settle the water question to the satisfaction of the people.

TOLONO'S MYSTERY.

No Tidings of the Missing Agnes

Tolono, Ill., Nov. 18 .- It has now trans pired that Agnes Matzke, the girl wife whose disappearance from her home in this place has caused so much excitement the past few days, had secured ample fund previous to her disappearance to have car ried her away if her going was voluntary The gossips are now coupling her name with that of Miss Lou Rutledge, who mys teriously disappeared from her home it Hillsboro, Ill., about the time of Mrs Matzke's leaving. Miss Rutledge was young girl of about Mrs. Matzke's age, and the pair are supposed to have been inti mate friends. It is now thought that on the night of her disappearance Agnes boarded the south-bound Illi nois Central train, which leaves here a 2 o'clock in the morning." She could de this without being observed by entering the train when it stopped north of the de pot, before crossing the Wabash track She could then catch an east-bound train at Mattoon, reaching Hillsbore in the morning. Here Miss Rutledge could join her, and both have gone to St. Louis. Al other phases of the case have been exhaust ed apparently. The tears and anxiety of her parents have somewhat abated, al though they deny having received any communication from her regarding he whereabouts, and inquiry at the postoffic and telegraph office bears out their state ments. The husband and family have ru down every clew without success. Mr Matzke still clings to the theory that hi wife was abducted or enticed away from him, and never speaks of the matter nov without manifesting the greatest anger and an insatiable desire for revenge. There f a marked decrease in the excitement over the matter to-day. People generally ar turning their attention in other directions There is something of a disposition to le the matter rest, and to trust to the futur for a solution of the mystery of Agna Matzke's fate.

IN A BLAZE OF FIRE.

Terrible Experience of a Fireman of a Jersey Train.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 .- A singular ac cident occurred o the West Jersey Rai road above Woodbury last evening. Rich ard McLane, the fireman on the 3:20 trais from Camden for Cape May, while passin Westville Station, was struck by a spar from the engine furnace, which lodged his oily blouse, He attempted to extin guish the flame, which was shooting into h face, and staggered out of the caboose. Th engine was running at the rate of thirty-fiv miles an hour, and the engineer was look ing out ahead. The engineer glance around and noticed that McLare was miss ing. He applied the air-brakes, and th train was brought to a stand-still.

At this time one mile back between the louble tracks lay McLane in a blaza. He had been knocked senseless and the fire was eating into his body. He arose with diffi-culty, and in his agony clutched at his burning garments. Tumbling over the iron rails he rolled down a steep embank ment into a clump of briers. Meantim the engine was reversed and stopped nes where the fireman had fallen. Sover of the passengers tore the clothes fro him and thus extinguished the fire. Th man was placed in a car and carried Woodbury, where his injuries were attend ed to. His left arm in places was burne to a crisp, and deep gashes on his head an face cause the flesh to hang in shreds. right arm was broken in two places an charred spots and bruises covered h
